Dedication

This man we wish to honor is a teacher who's genuine concern for his students extends beyond the classroom, a man who gives unselfishly of his time and ability. This gentleman's efforts in support of our class and of the 1974 Green and Gold were an invaluable asset. In appreciation, the class of 1974 dedicates this yearbook to:

MR. FREDERICK REMINGTON

This man cares enough to become involved. Because of this, and for the endless hours and boundless energy he has contributed as class advisor and teacher, the class of 1974 is thankful. The yearbook is also indebted to this man for his help. To honor him, we dedicate this yearbook to:

MR. DANIEL DEUEL

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

You have completed your high school career in a community which has not spared itself to give you every opportunity that good homes, good schools and good churches can offer. We wish you peace, happiness and success in your endeavors.

As you broaden the scope of your interests, and widen the field of your pursuits, bear in mind that happiness is achieved rather than found, and that the most worthy recognition is that gained by one's contributions to society through professional and civic activities.

You have so short a time to work, and so vast a future to explore, that you should not waste a single day. You have made a good start. May you have free sailing and full speed ahead.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

"I never felt so alive, I'm learning that there is such a world out there and none of us have ever seen or felt it."

The above motto, as adopted by the Graduating Class of 1974, is very profound. It is true that the world beyond appears to be truly awesome. Think of life as a great adventure and yourself as pioneers. Your youth will be your strength and your inexperience will eventually become your wisdom. Use your "wishbone", your "backbone", and your "funnybone" and you will live a well-rounded life.

Good luck, one and all - in furthering your ambitions and dreams.

Richard F. Zani

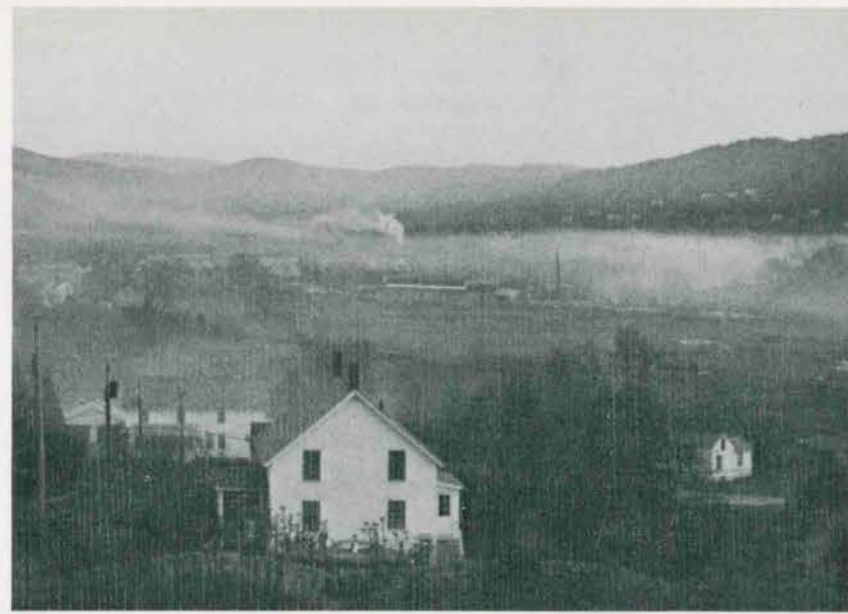

Westside's

Story

AUTUMN

One autumn morning, as the mist rose from the valley and the sun shone brightly, we returned from our summer vacation to start a new year with old friends and the beginning of a new building.

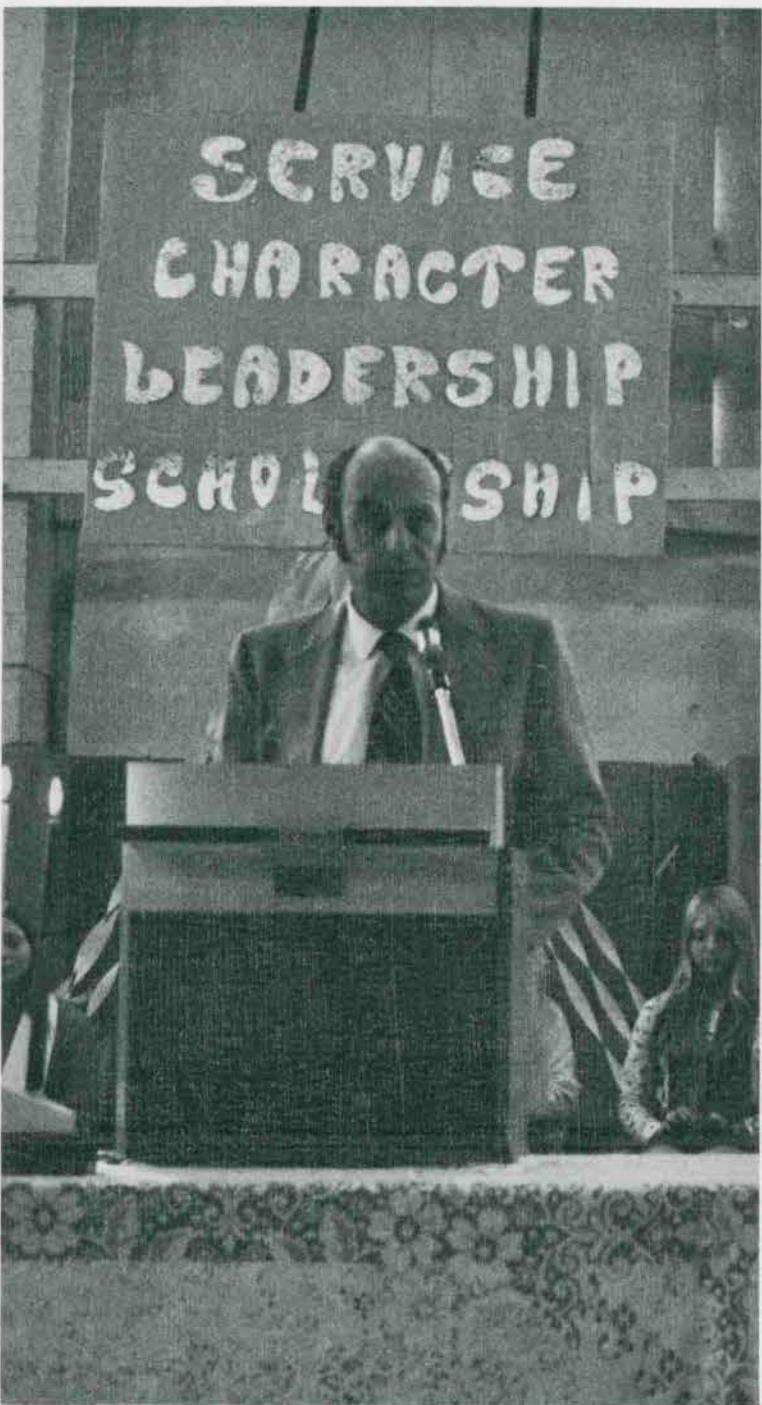

Into the empty halls and classrooms we came, preparing to settle into our daily routine for the year.

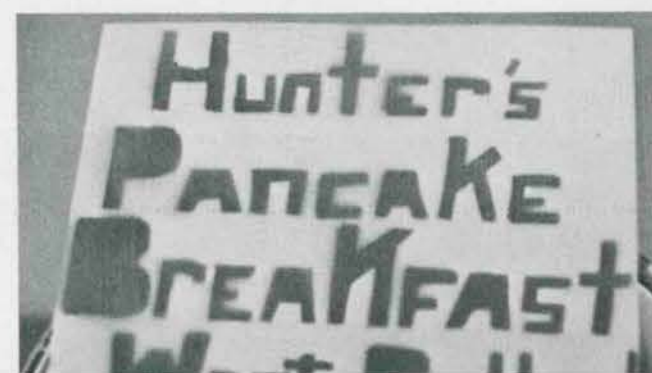

Highlights of the Fall included another outstanding performance by the Rutland Jr. High chorus, a presentation of African music, and the National Honor Society's inductions.

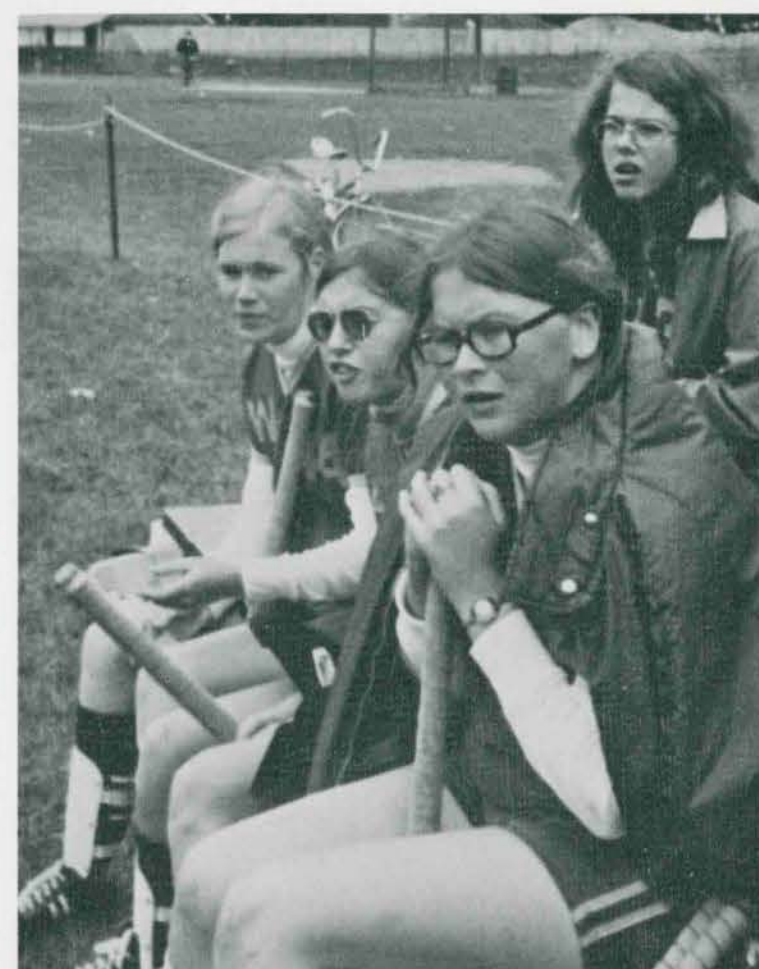

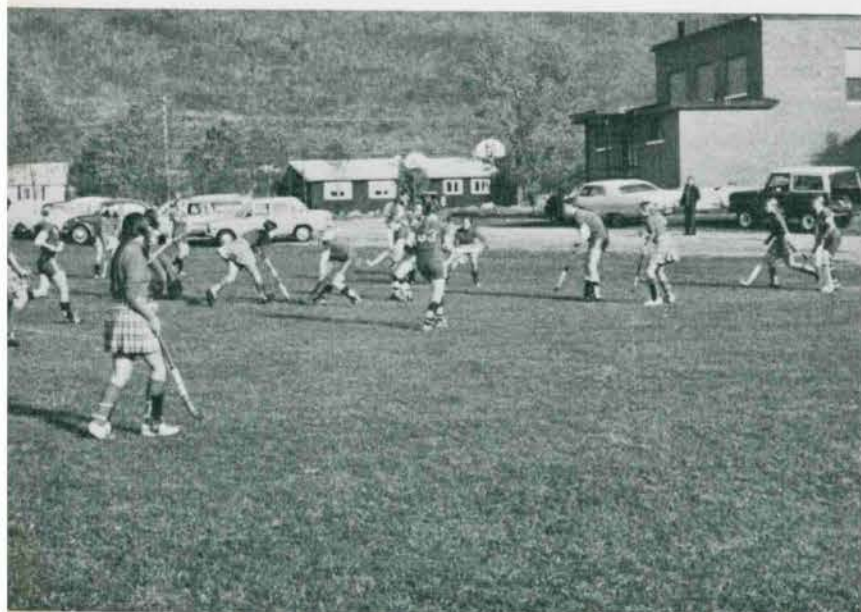

There were activities to suit every possible interest: Halloween, a hunter's breakfast, drama, music, jellybean contest, construction, and of course...

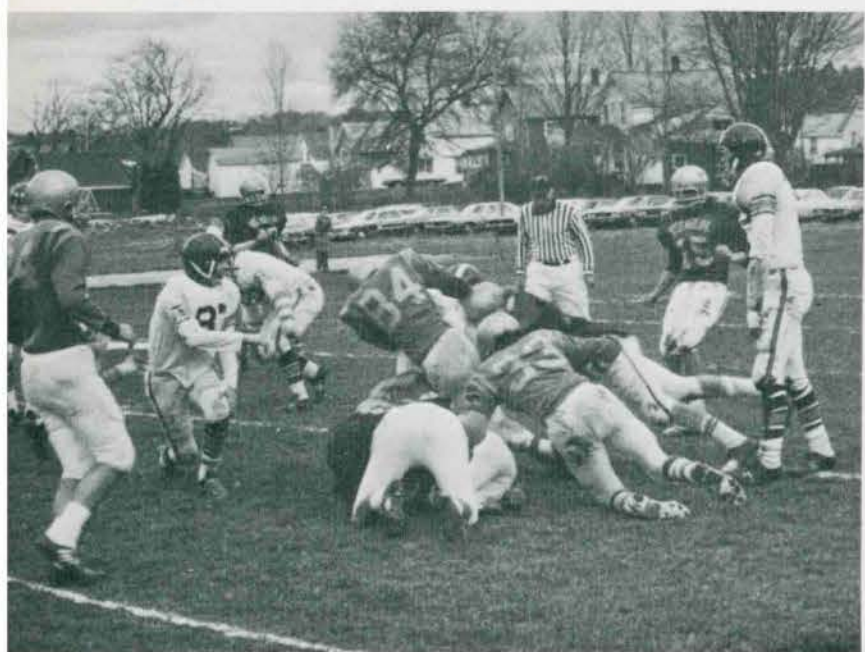

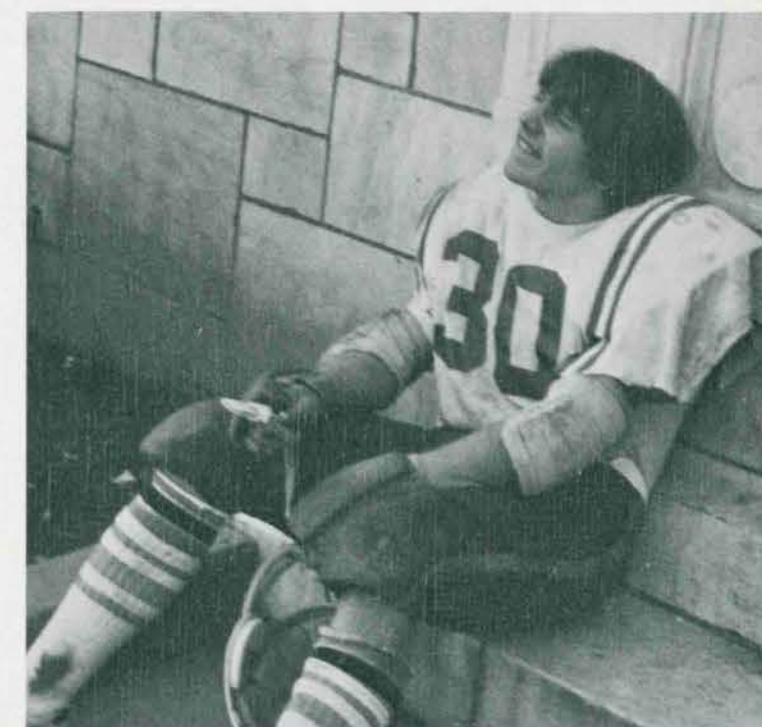

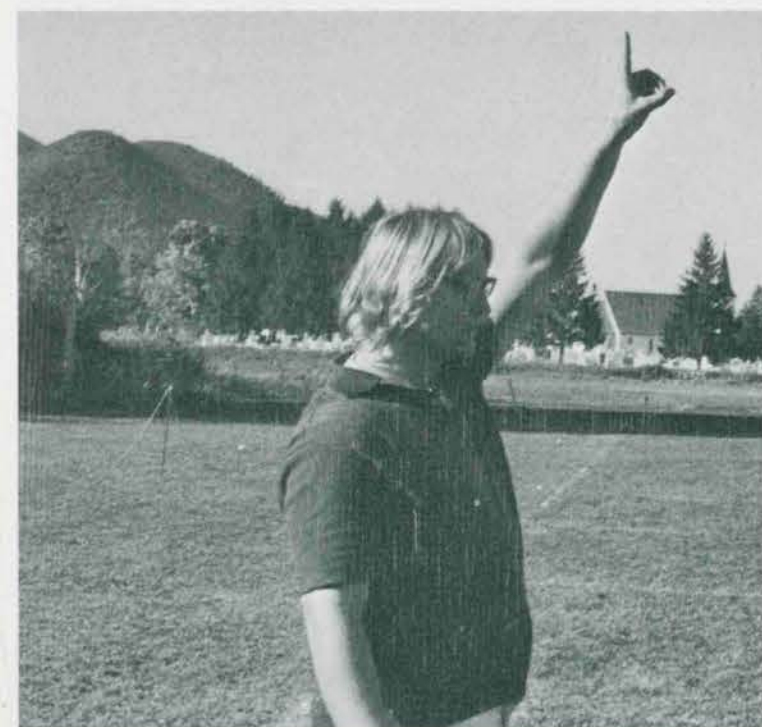

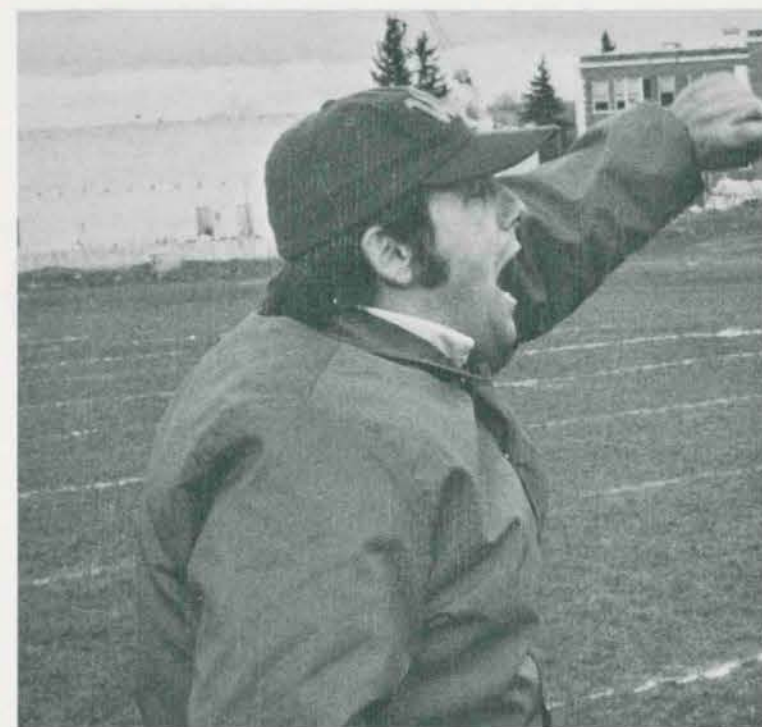

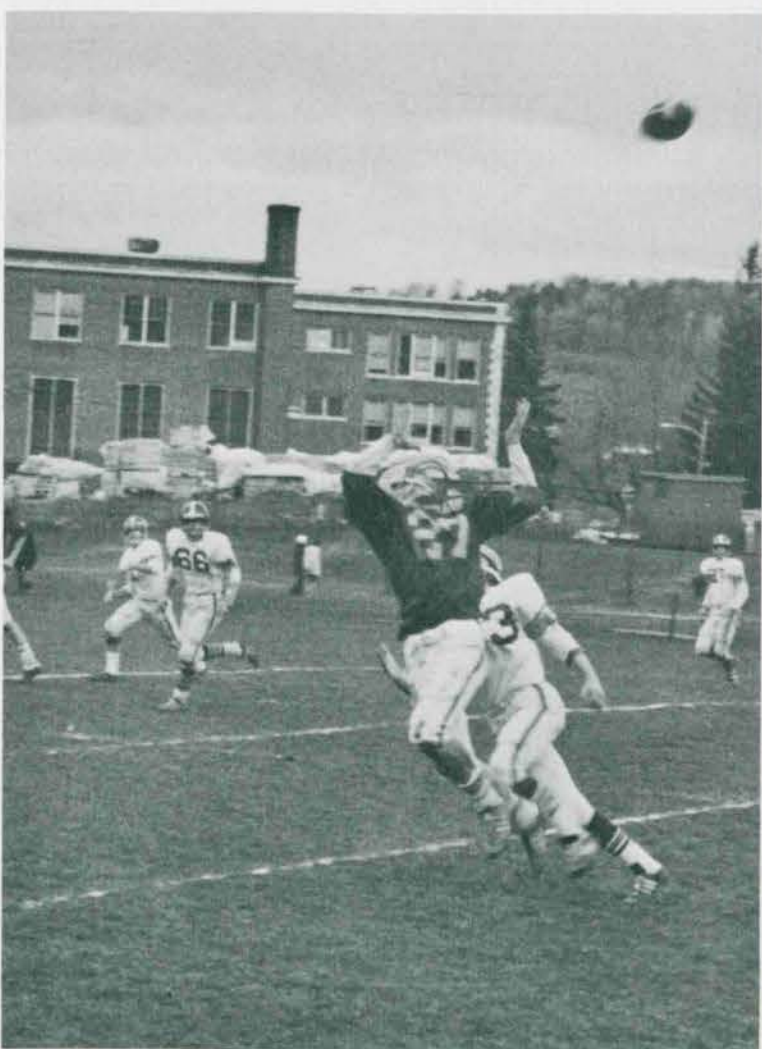

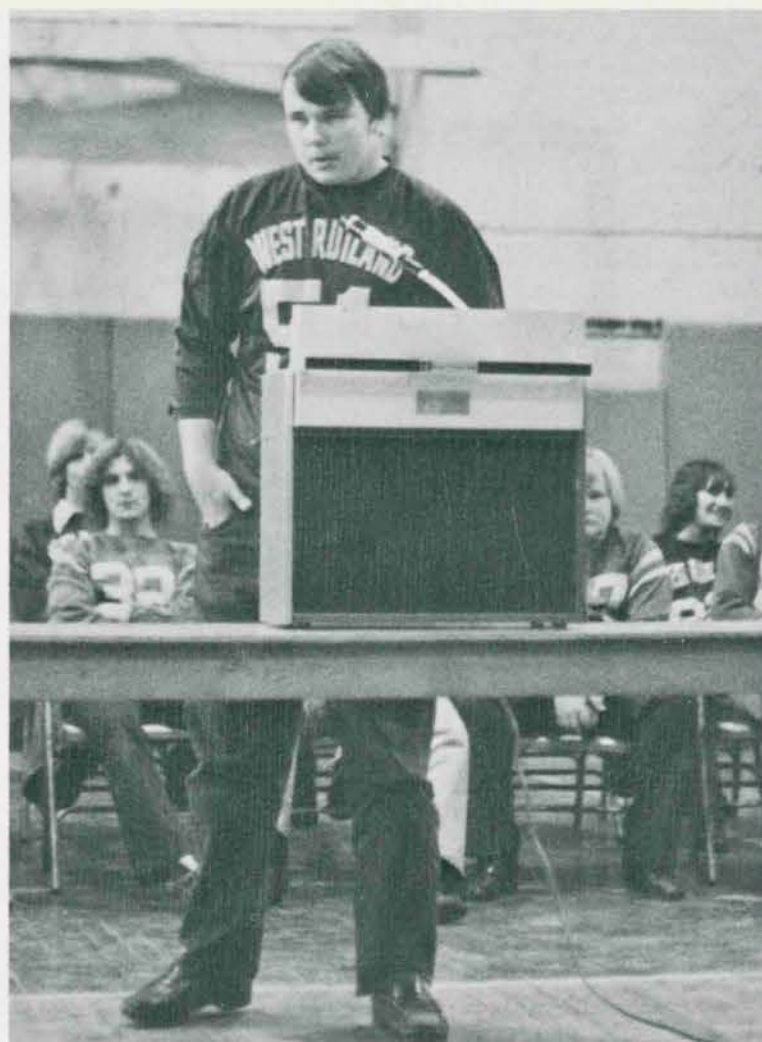

...SPORTS! The girl's field hockey team improved immensely during this, our third season. We had two team members on the All-MVI team this year: Frannie Grembowicz and Patty Kapitan.

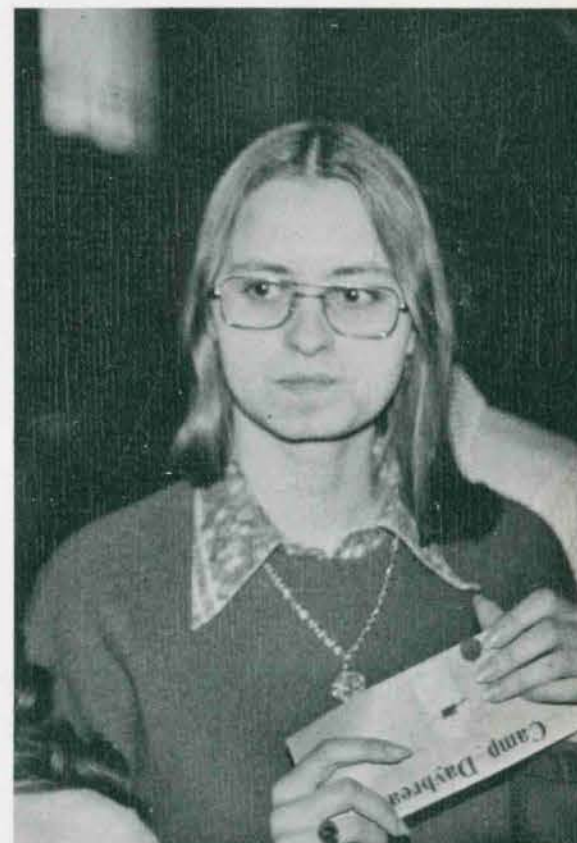

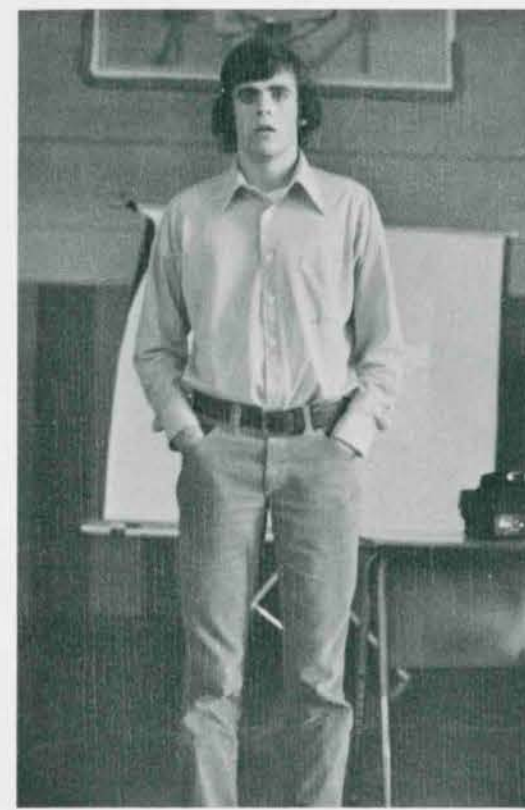

Of course, Fall begins and ends with football! Pep rallies, practices, scrimmages, and games are all an exciting part of this West Rutland tradition.

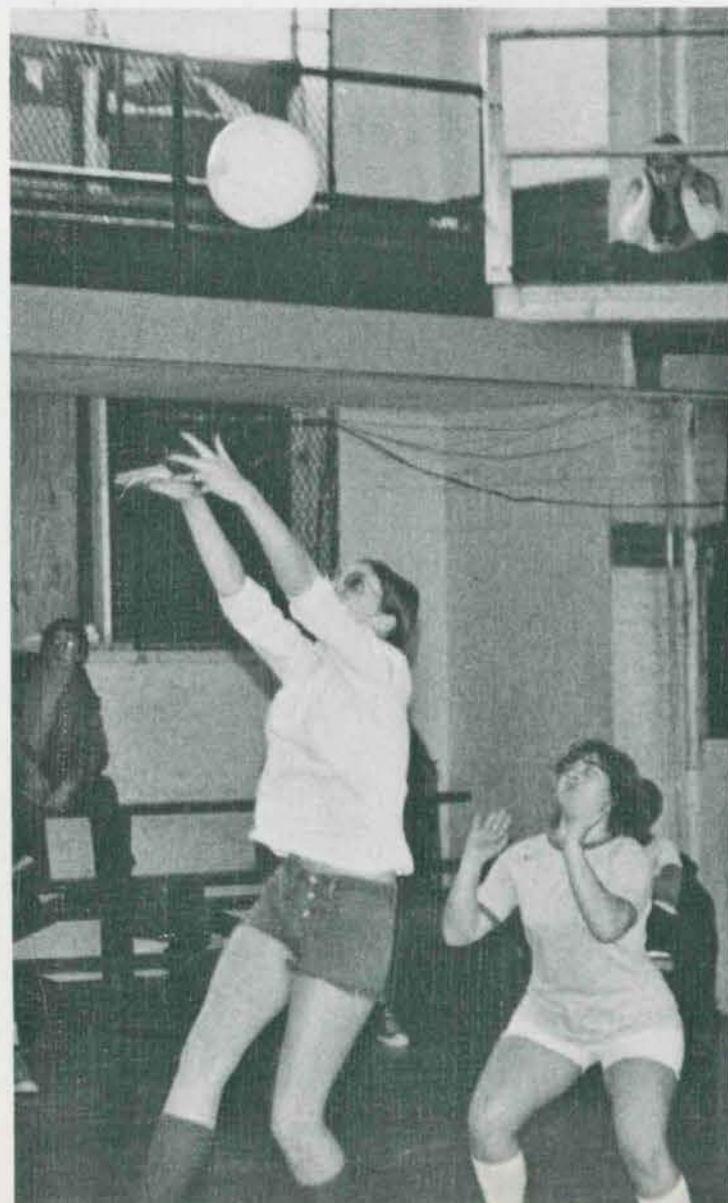

Fall ended, winter began, and the school had settled in for the year. The earlier part of the winter season included continuing classes, advancing construction, and such events as the Camp Daybreak assembly.

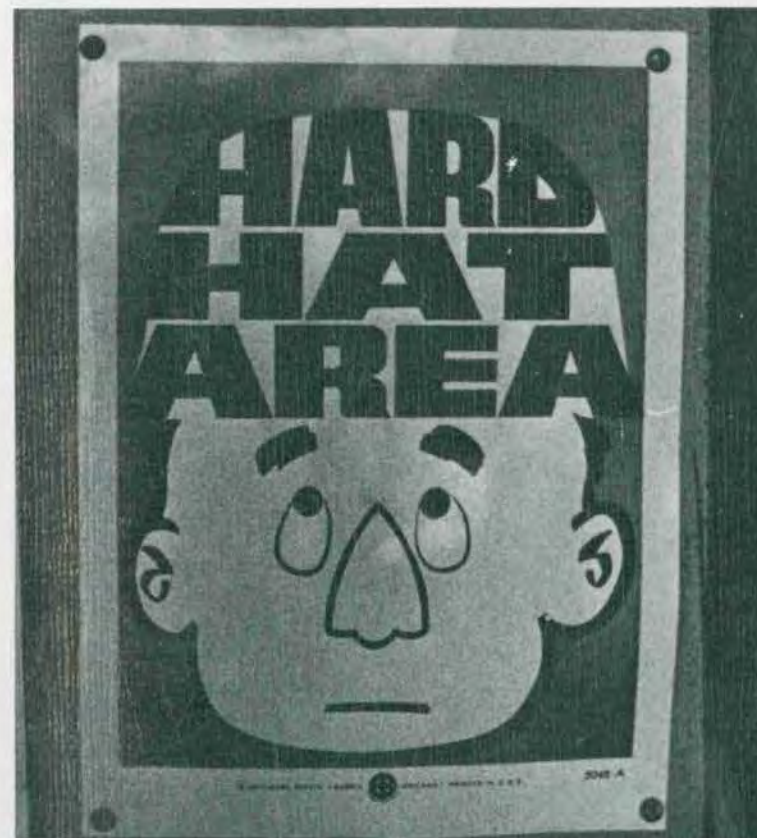

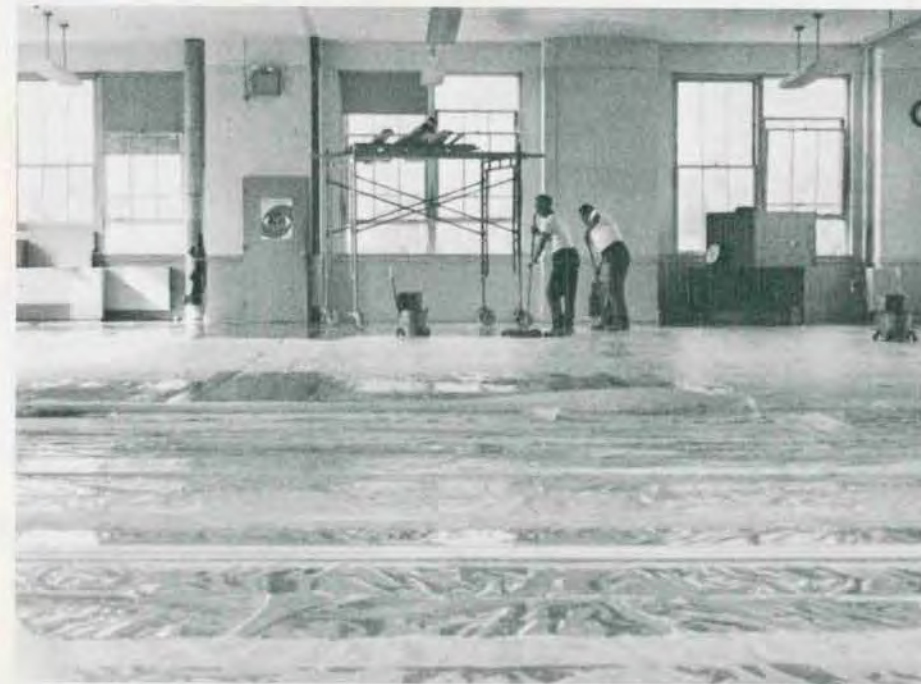

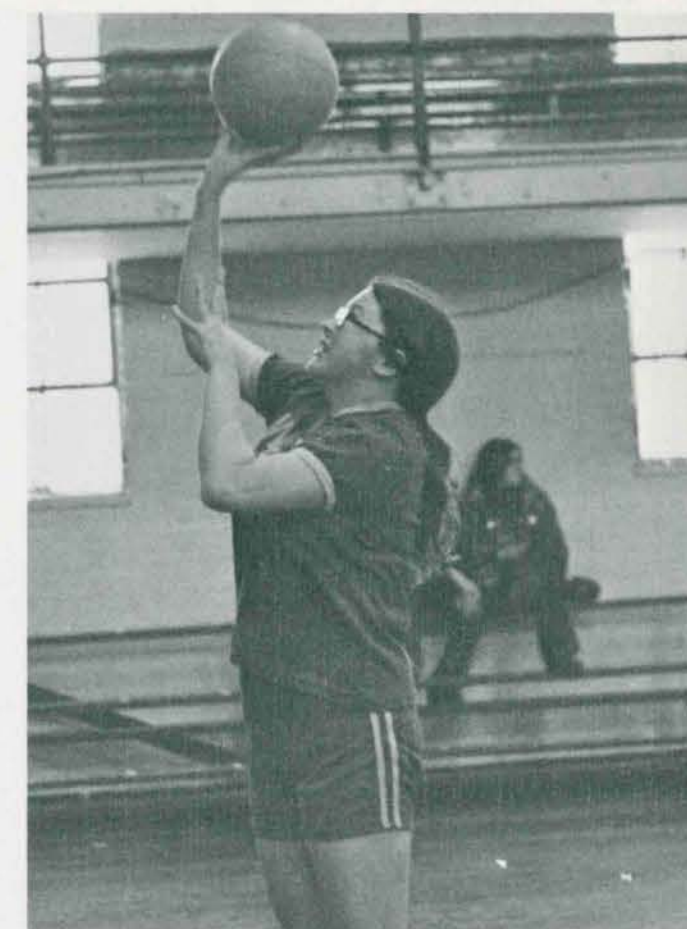

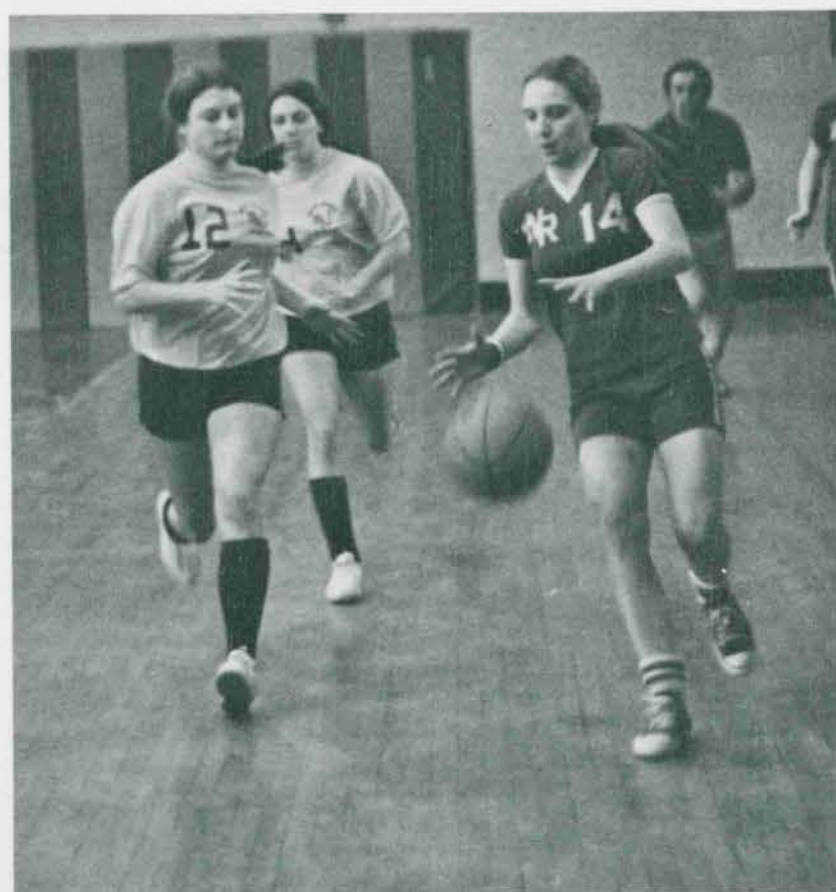

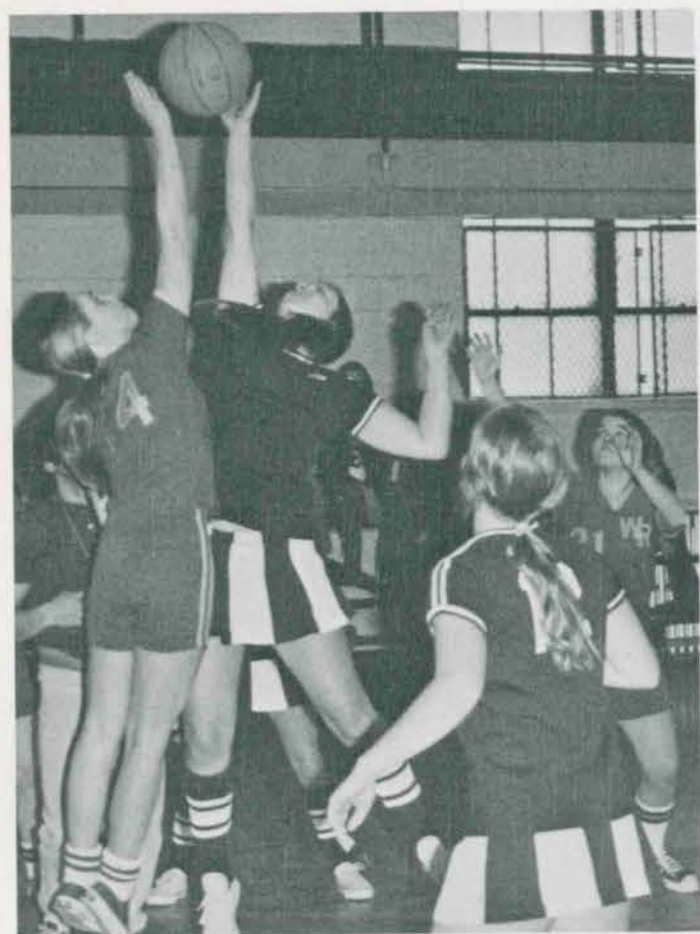

A major event of the season was the winter carnival. This year's carnival included skits by each class, a volleyball tournament, and a dance at which a king and queen were crowned and a trophy was awarded to the junior and senior classes. The winners of the carnival. The carnival this year was cut back due to a lack of snow, but was a huge success anyway.

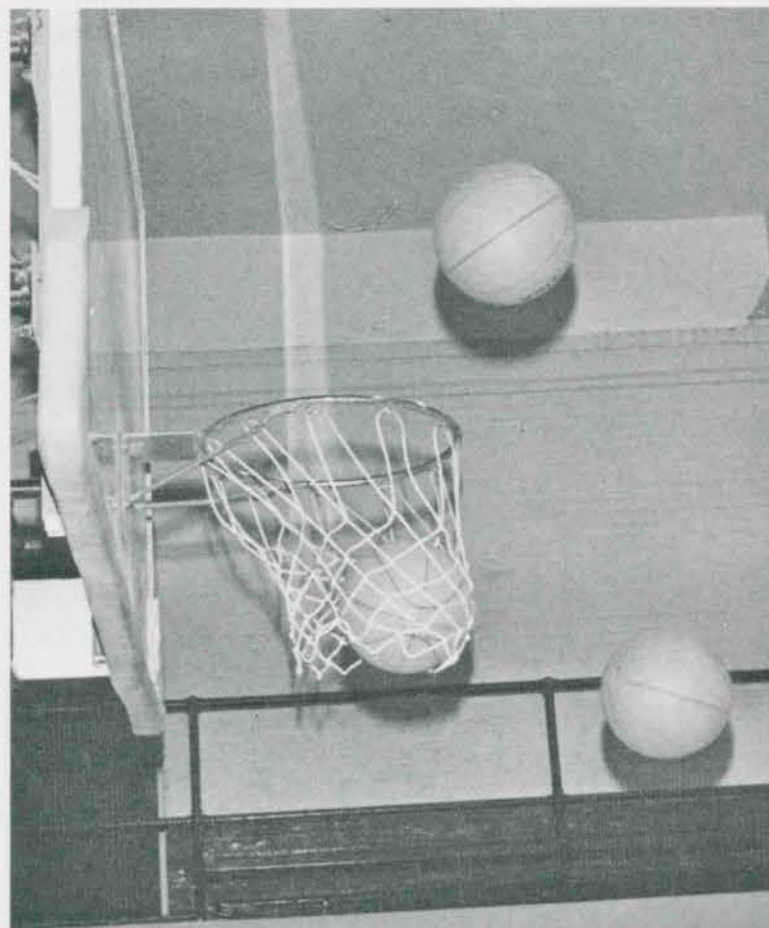

Winter was a season of great activity and one of the most obvious activities for this time of the year was the participation in our ski program. At the same time a great amount was accomplished toward the completion of the school's new addition.

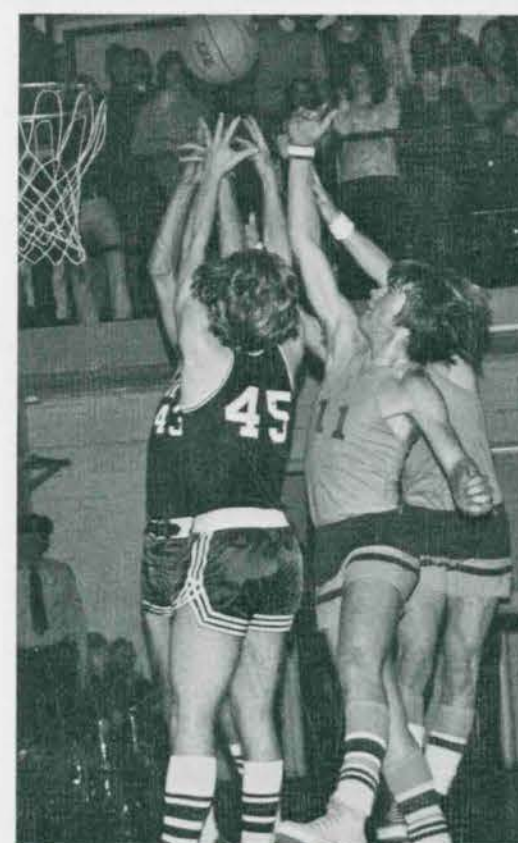

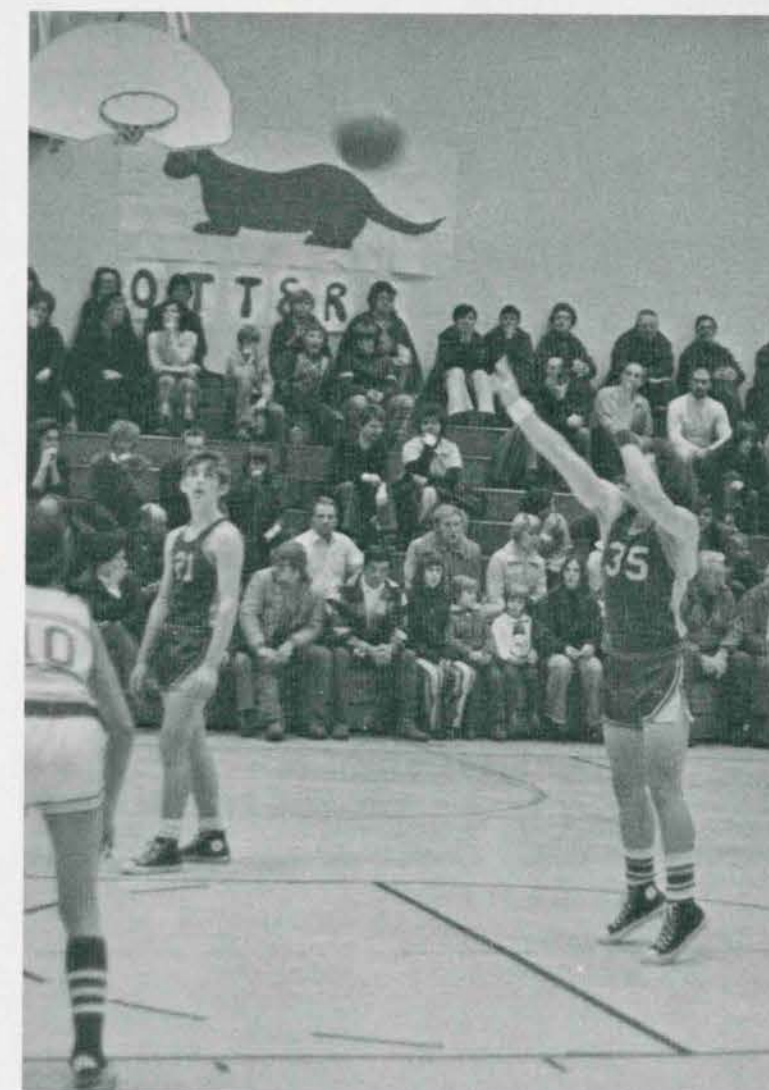

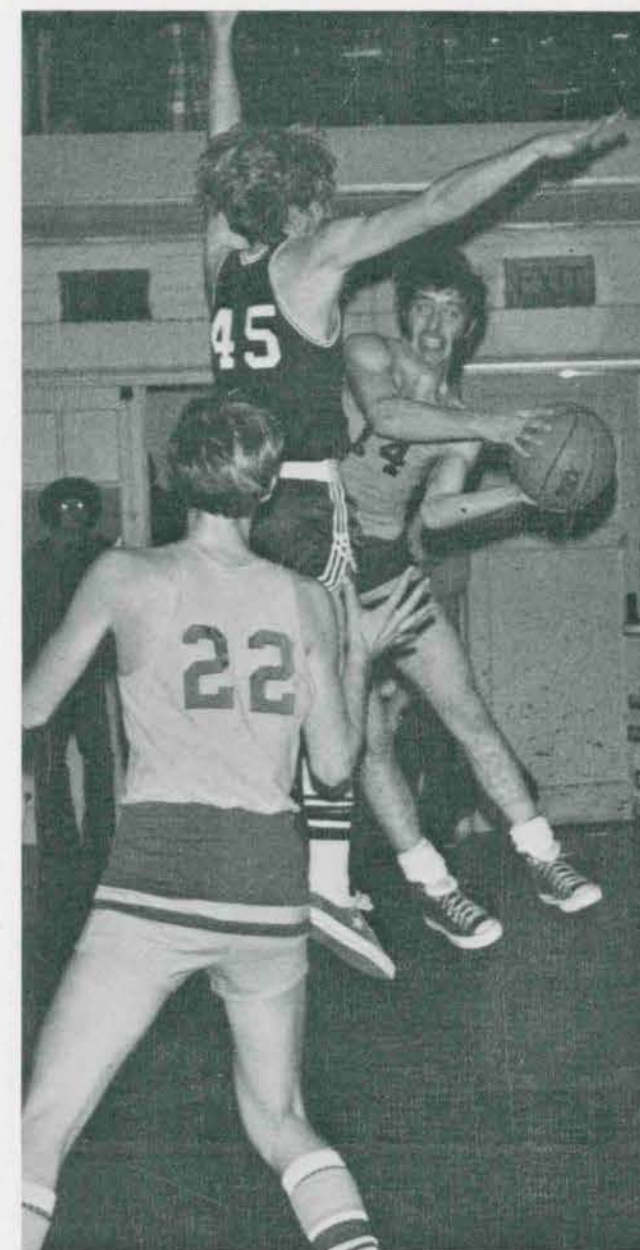

Girl's athletics, which have become important in our school's sports scene, were exemplified this season by basketball. The team played a hard fought season and did their best to represent our school.

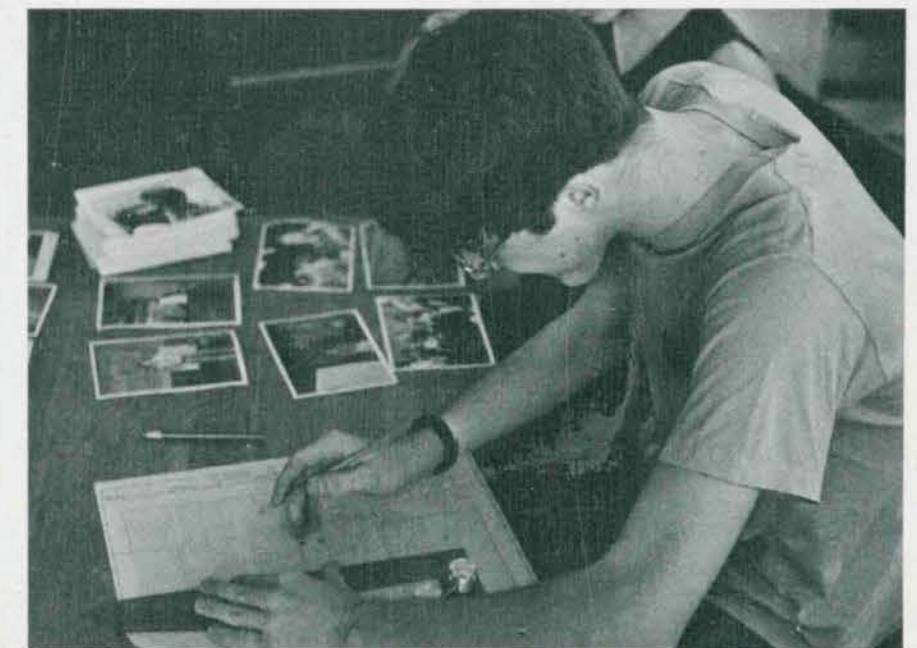

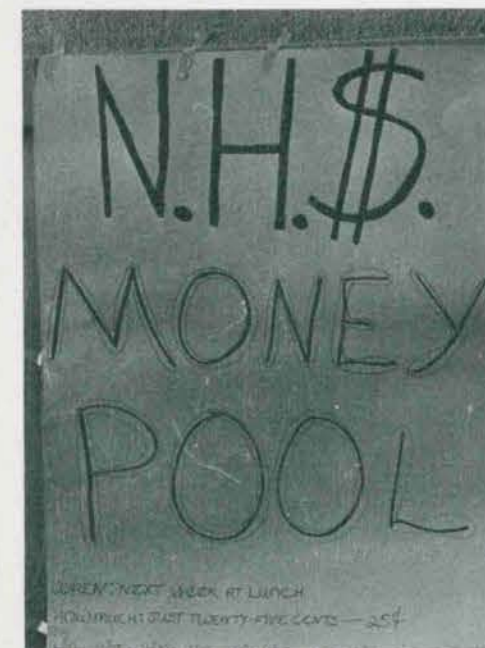

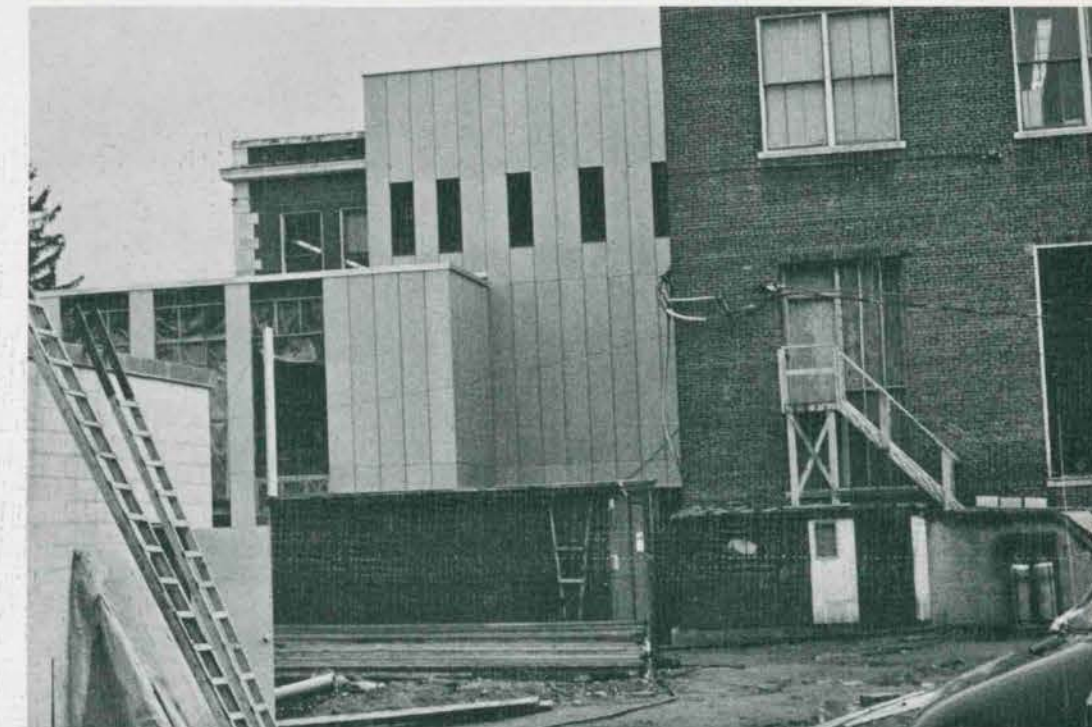

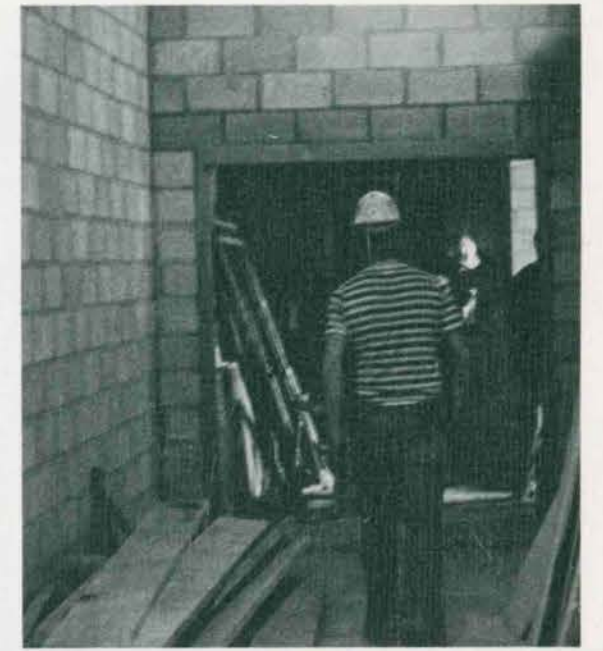

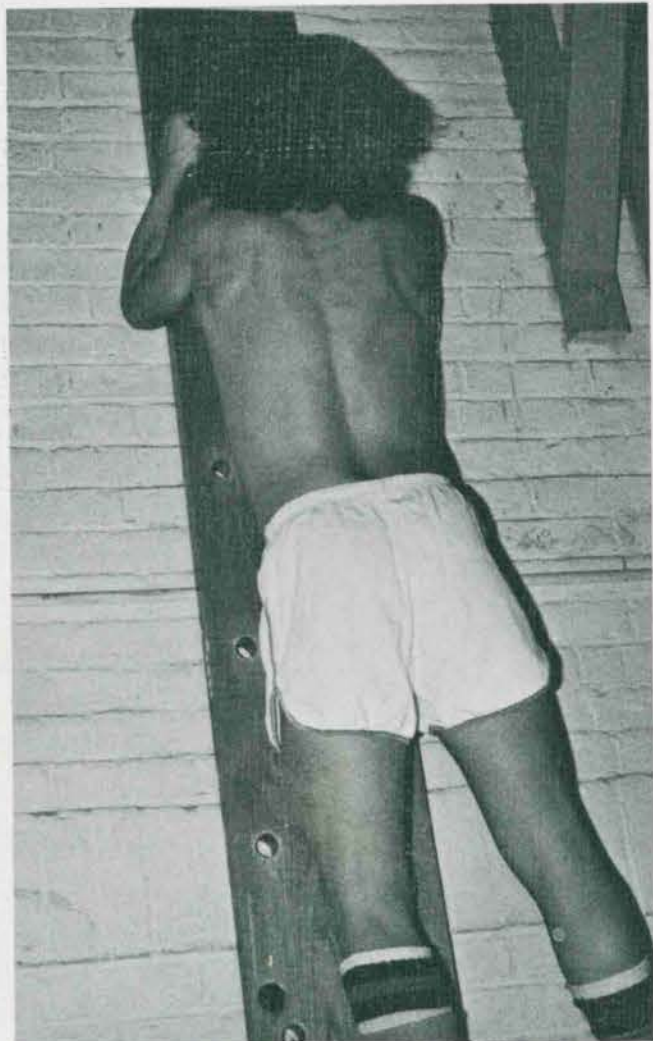

Winter's end saw the Hordesmen reach the state semi-finals in a valiant effort for another state championship.

SPRING

With the coming of spring, the end of the school year was in sight and the final push was on. Many groups faced rapidly approaching deadlines. Some of these were N. H. S., student council, yearbook, and construction. Spring also included a concert and trip to England.

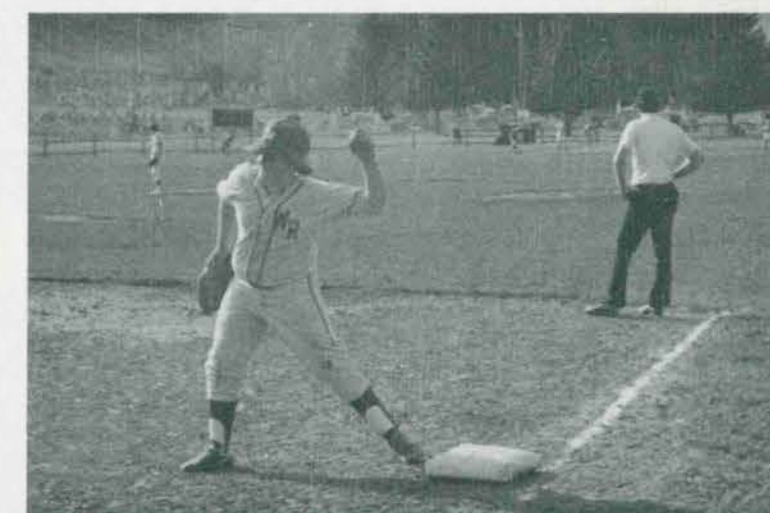

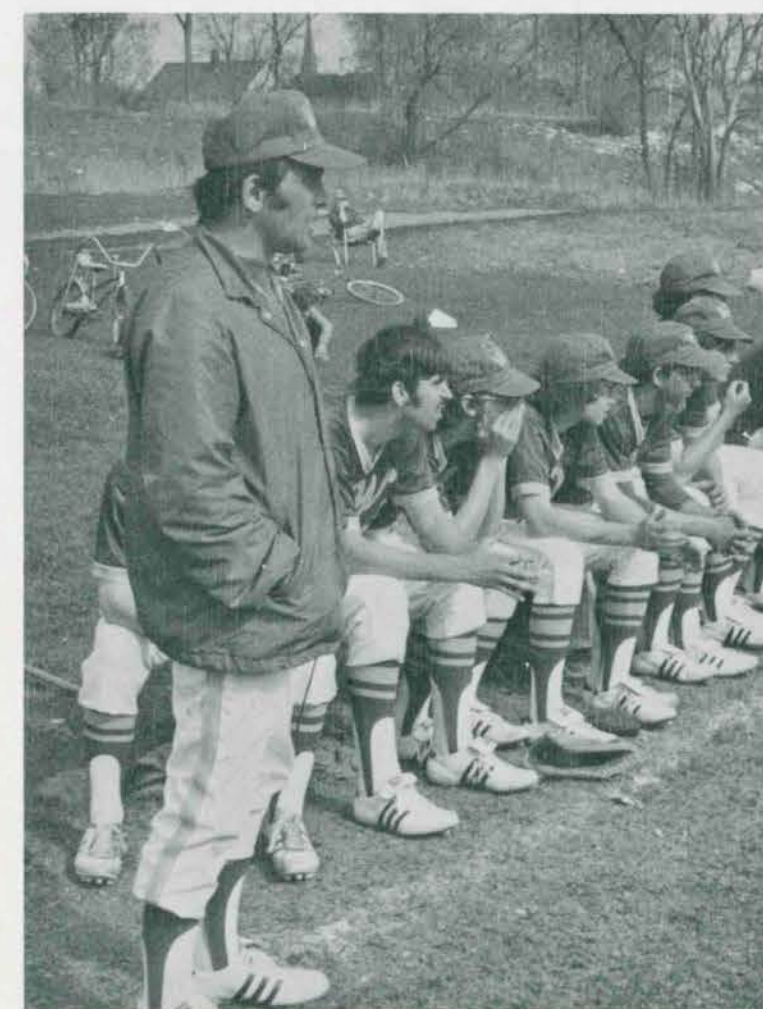

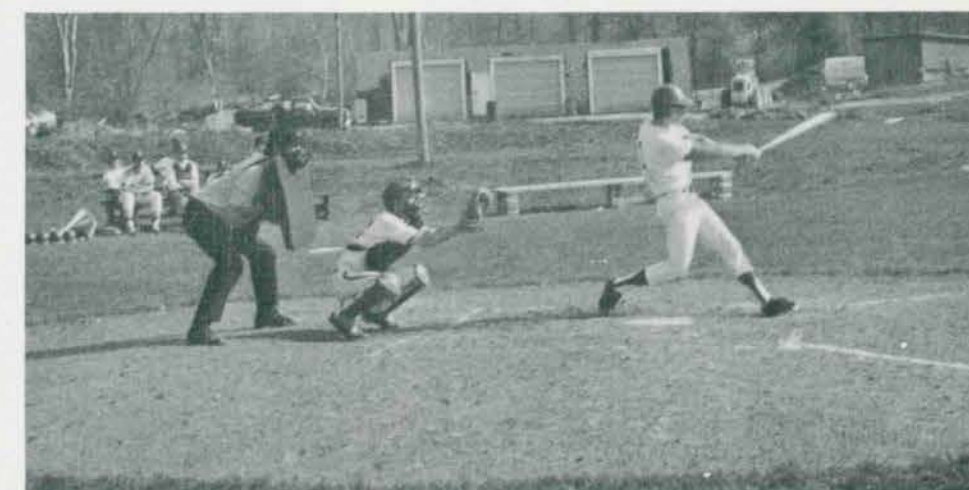

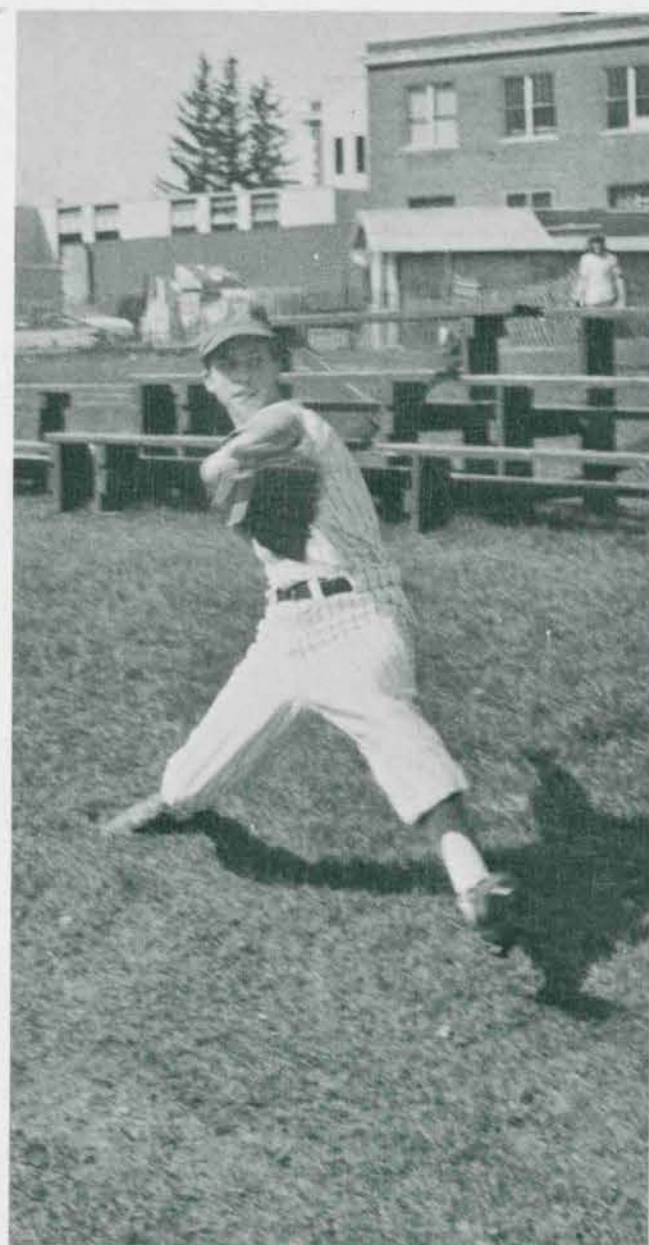

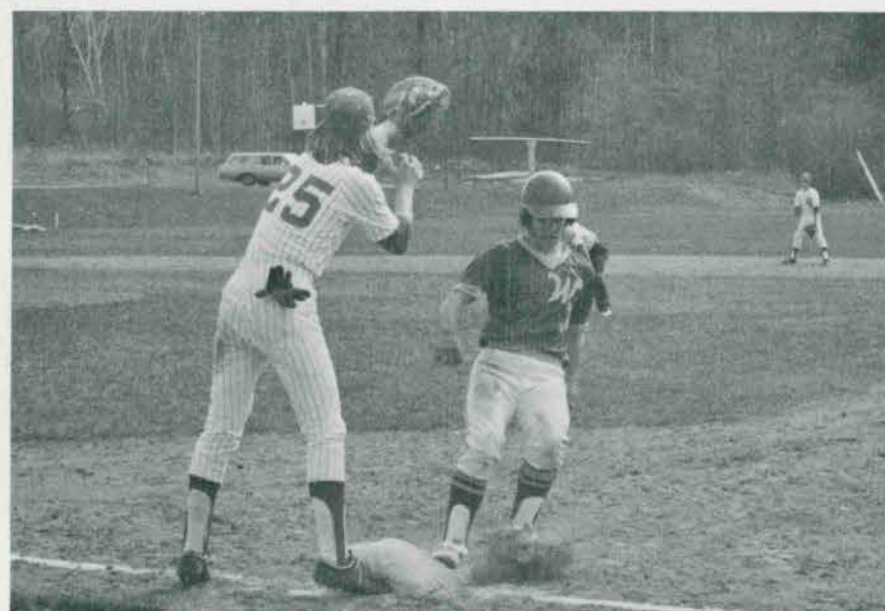

In the field of girl's sports, softball had replaced basketball. For most of the girl's this was the last season of the year, but for the seniors it was their final chance in high school sports.

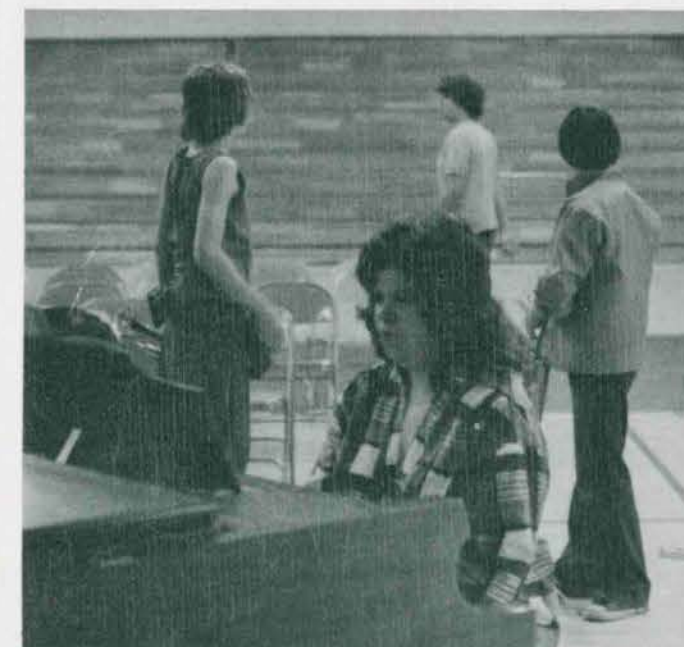

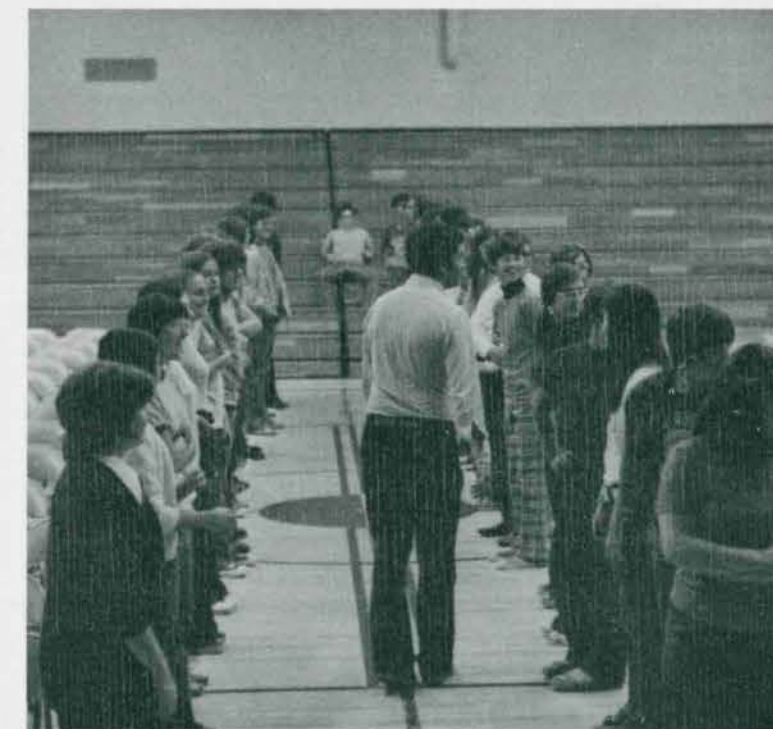

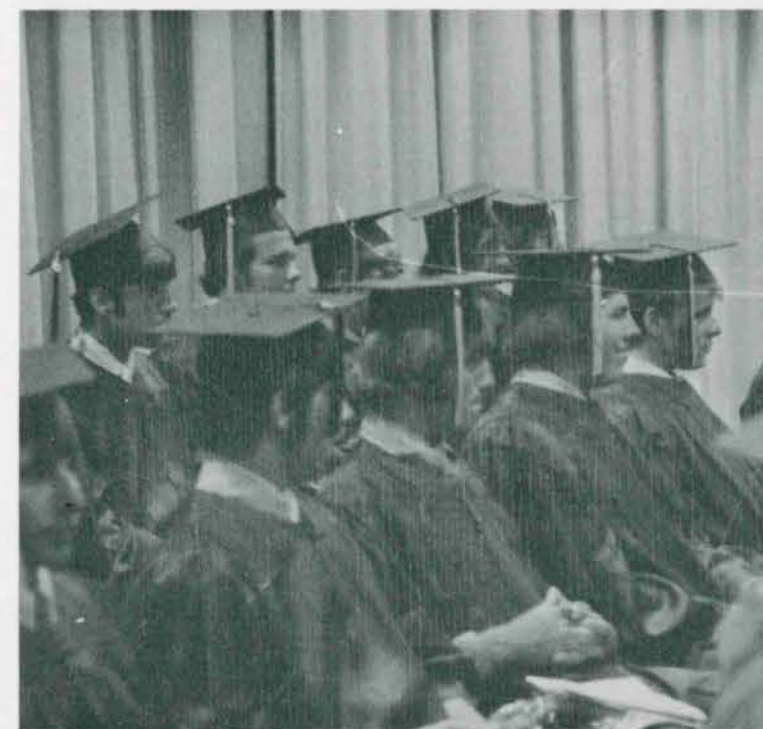

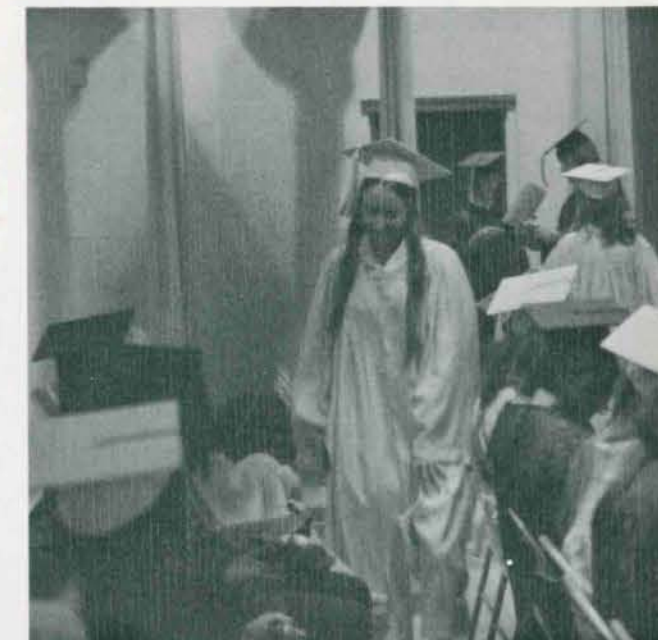

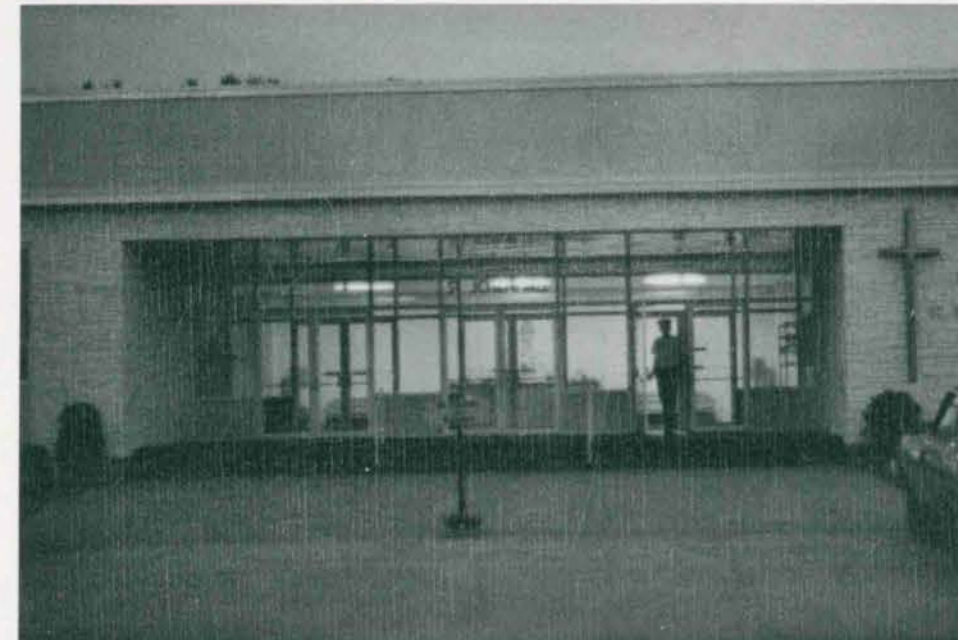

In boy's sports, the tune was baseball. The team played an excellent season, pushing themselves all the way to the finals, but suffered a narrow defeat to end up second in the state.

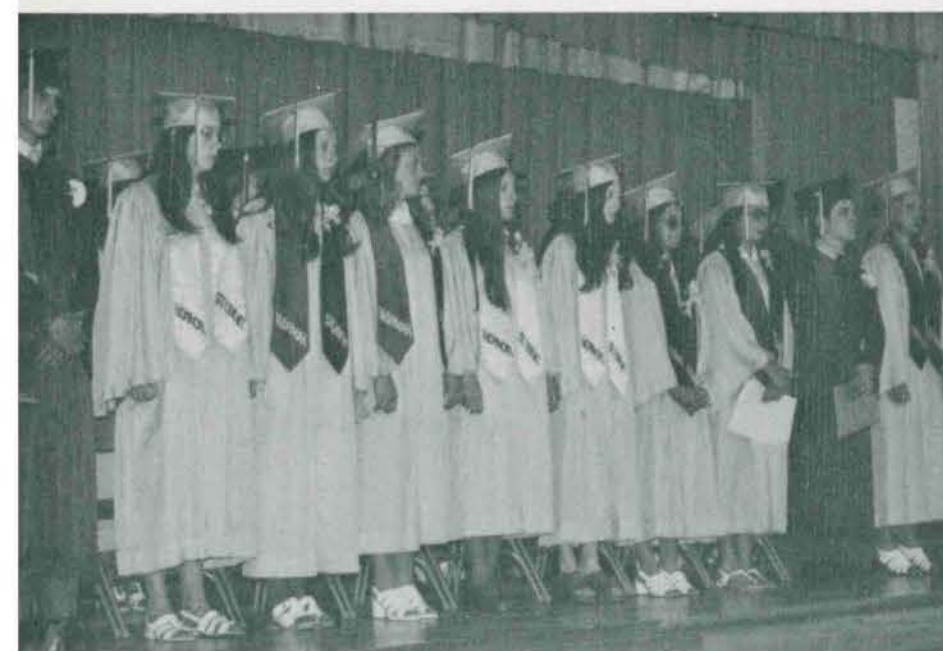

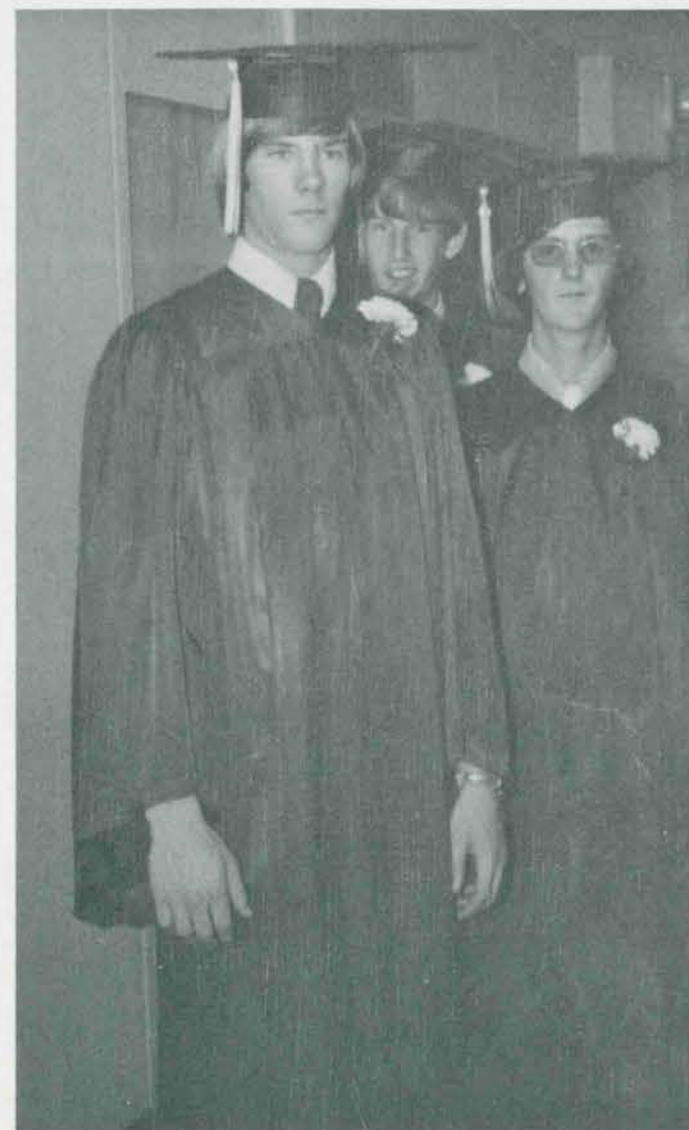

The final events preceding graduation, included the prom, practices, and class-night. The prom this year was held at Pico base lodge, while class-night was at the college of St. Joseph, the Provider.

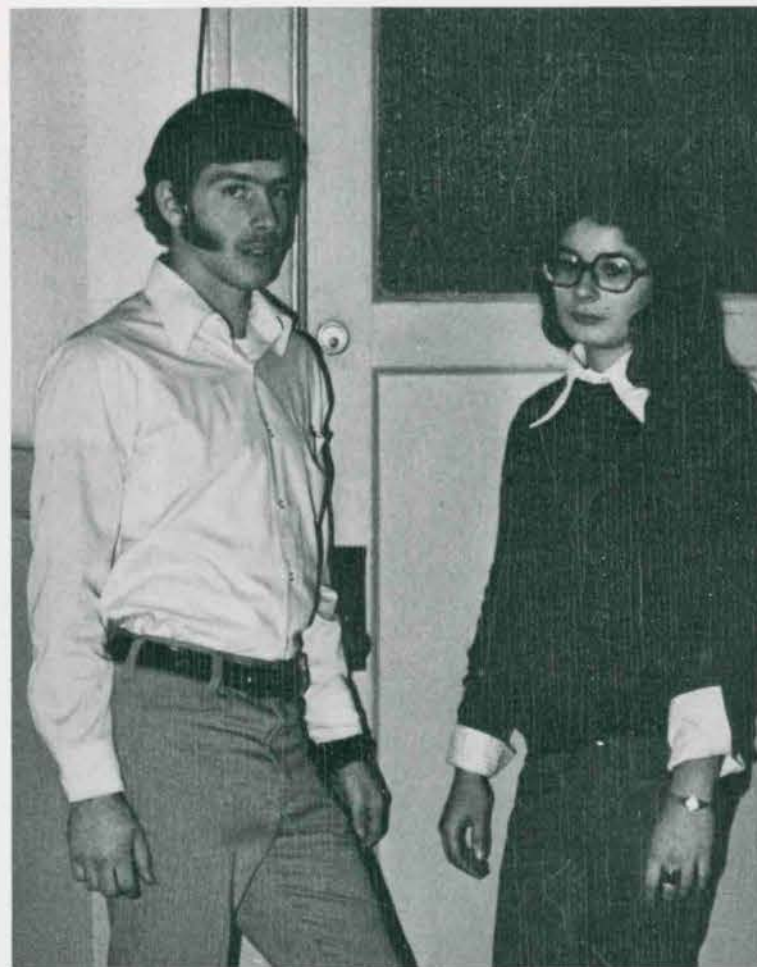

The school year ended, and, for fifty-one seniors, four years of study came to a close on the thirteenth of June at St. Joseph's. The ceremony included speeches, awards, and the presentation of diplomas.
